How to Build Your Ottoman Divan Bed Base

Gather your tools

Before you start building your bed you need to gather the necessary tools to help build your bed. Find your own hammer and double check you have the right number of accessories in the plastic bag provided with your Ottoman divan bed base.

You can find the tools you'll need here :

* Side lift only

Remove all packaging carefully

Remove all of the packaging carefully, making sure you don't misplace any of the important items within the box! You'll need to remove the staples that secure the corner protectors to your Ottoman bed.

Once the bed has been fully unpacked, we'll even remove the packaging for you to save you the hassle!

Warning: the lid straps will spring open, unless you place your hand on top of them and slowly release them.

Easy Steps to your perfect new bed

Turn your Ottoman bed base upside down.

Insert a glider into the socket on each corner and gently tap them into place gently with your hammer. Make sure their secure and won't fall out

Push the bed bases together

If your Ottoman divan arrives in two sections or more, push them together, flat end to flat end, and secure them with two joining clips – place one clip behind, and the second in front, of the lifting piston/spring. Push down on the clips to fix them in place. Make sure the bed is properly pushed together and there are no gaps.

Screw the lid joining bolt into the recess on the top of your bed base and make sure the bed top is fully joined and secure in the middle.

Attach your headboard to your new Ottoman Base

Strutted Headboard

Remove the spacers from your headboard bolts and any stickers covering the bolt holes on your headboard – these will be approximately 15cm from the edge of your bed. Insert your headboard through the bolt holes, check it's level and tighten the bolts securely

Floor Standing Headboard

Line up your headboard with the bolt holes on your Ottoman divan bed base. Slide the headboard bolt through the slot in your headboard, put a spacer on the end and then screw it into your bed base.

You'll then be ready to push your headboard and bed into place against your wall. Take some time to stand back and admire all your hard work.

We truly hope you enjoy your new Magnabed
